Plans to create 600 jobs get green light

BY SOPHIE SCOTT
editor@mk-news.co.uk

A MASSIVE development which will bring 600 new jobs into the city has been granted planning permission.

Milton Keynes Council has given the go-ahead to a 230,000sq ft distribution and manufacturing facility in Wymbush - aptly called Centro:MK.

It will be built on the land where Alps Electronics was sited before its demolition in September last year. The site has been unused since June.

The eco-friendly building on the A5 Abbey Hill Interchange will accommodate whichever company bids to use the space.

As yet there is no clue as to what company could move in but Hampton Brook development director Ian Jackson said building work could be completed within five months when a company applies to use the space.

Mr Jackson said: "The council has estimated that the scheme could create 594 jobs.

"We can react quickly to companies wanting to locate to Milton Keynes because we have got planning certainty.

"We are ready to go. Effectively the planning consent gives us a range of uses for manufacturing warehouses and can suit a range of quite specific requirements.

"As President Obama has coined, we are 'shovel-ready'."

Mr Jackson explained the name Centro:MK was not intended to be similar to thecentre:mk.

He said: "We are quite literally in the centre of Milton Keynes as we have good access to the A5 and are only ten minutes from the M1.

"It is one of the reasons Milton Keynes is appealing to companies. It is also centrally located in the country.

"We don't know quite what we are going to build but it could be done within five months when a company decides to locate its business in Milton Keynes.

"It is all part of Milton Keynes' jobs creation."

The facility has been welcomed by the council.

Pam Gosal, corporate head of economic development, said: "We welcome the real potential for job creation offered by this development.

"The provision of high quality business space for future investors in Milton Keynes is a fundamental element of our Economic Development Strategy.

"Also, the facility's BREEAM 'excellent' rating will underline Milton Keynes' commitment to low carbon working environments."

Centro:MK is a joint venture partnership between Hampton Brook, which has sites in Knowlhill and Tilbrook, and Roxhill.

Homeless to get 'designer' underwear

'DESIGNER' clothes were donated to the homeless - with permission from the designers themselves.

Milton Keynes Council's Trading Standards team gave more than 500 items of counterfeit clothing, including fake Calvin Klein underwear and Foo Fighter and Prodigy T-shirts, to the Milton Keynes Winter Shelter Project.

The items were among more than 2,500 counterfeit items seized by the team last year in raids which led to several prosecutions.

The council had to get approval from the trademark owners before donating the items.

The Winter Night Shelter is a partnership project between the council, Milton Keynes YMCA and the faith communities in the city.

Using seven church buildings across the city and hundreds of volunteers, the project provides shelter for up to 15 people per night who would otherwise be sleeping rough.

Over the course of the winter the project has helped more than 50 of the city's vulnerable residents by offering shelter, food and clothing.

Karen Ford, head of Trading Standards, said: "It's fantastic that we are able to donate counterfeit clothing to such a worthy cause.

"It is hoped that with the agreement from trademark holders, we can continue to support local charities wherever possible."

Architect hits out at bridge plans

PLANS to demolish part of Secklow Gate Bridge have been slammed by two key figures from the city's past.

Former chief architect Derek Walker, pictured, and Stuart Mosscrop, who helped design the shopping centre, believe that the proposals submitted by the-centre:mk owners Hermes and Prupim trample over their initial vision.

The plans envision a new department store for the site, but this would evict the market traders currently using the land and remove a key route through Central Milton Keynes.

Mr Walker and Mr Mosscrop subsequently believe that the city's famous grid road system is under threat but thecentre:mk warned of CMK becoming a 'backwater'.

In a joint letter to industry newspaper Building Design, Mr Walker and Mr Mosscrop said:

'The effective removal of this through route would seriously disable the centre's infrastructure and surrounding grid roads.

'The grid is a tough, well proven and resilient form of urban subdivision but cannot function smoothly under constant ad hoc intervention.

'This application should be categorically refused and alternative sites offered to the prospective developer.'

Jon Weymouth, development director at the thecentre:mk, defended the plans.

"Central Milton Keynes must not be allowed to become a backwater," he said.

"There may need to be necessary compromises to the grid road system to enable the future growth of Milton Keynes for the benefit of employees, residents and shoppers, and to sustain Milton Keynes' position as the premier new town in the UK.

"Our proposed development will create over 400 new retail jobs as well as around 250 construction jobs.

"In this economic climate, an investment of £30million should not be turned away, the economic damage of not being able to develop the area at Secklow will far outweigh any perceived damage to the integrity of the listed status or the building's heritage value."

Linda Inoki, with the sign, and campaigners want John Lewis to stop its development into Middleton Hall

John Lewis asked to halt expansion

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

FIFTEEN city stakeholders, councillors, architects and residents have written a letter to John Lewis to ask the store to reconsider a planned development.

The letter, addressed to John Lewis Partnership managing director Andy Street and Milton Keynes store MD Paul Hunt, urges the retailer not to 'cause significant harm' to Middleton Hall in thecentre:mk by expanding into it.

It goes on to say that developing in such a way within the Grade II -listed shopping centre is a 'self-defeating move', as 'protecting the city's heritage can only enhance your reputation and profitability'.

Linda Inoki, co-founder of Xplain, an organisation that fights for quality development in the city, is a signatory.

She said: "The proposed development will take away a considerable amount of space in Middleton Hall, which was designed for the benefit of the public – it won't look or feel the same again.

"It is going to destroy an important architectural feature of the entire building and that's important because it's our heritage and history, and once it's gone it's gone forever."

The letter was written after Milton Keynes Council decided to allow the retailer to expand into Middleton Hall, despite strong opposition from English Heritage.

But Mr Hunt said John Lewis 'firmly believed' it was doing the right thing.

He said: "Our architects and specialist heritage consultants have paid close attention to the historic features of the existing facade to ensure the extension will be sensitively carried and as much of the building's original fabric retained.

"The status as a listed building seeks to ensure the historic characteristics are retained but that economic development is not restricted and it is critical that businesses are allowed to evolve to satisfy the needs of the 21st century shopper.

"The proposals to our building's facade represent a small percentage of Middleton Hall, and will not impinge on local groups and organisations holding events."

Angry: Sara Aginas was told she was not allowed in a Skyline cab

Cabbie refuses to take 33-stone fare

BY SOPHIE SCOTT
editor@mk-news.co.uk

A 33-STONE woman claims she was refused transport by a cab company for 'being too fat'.

Sara Aginas - who admits to being overweight - says a Skyline driver told her on Saturday night that if she got in his car she would cause an accident.

The mother-of-six booked two cabs to pick up her family but when she went to get in the first car the driver would not allow her to get in.

Mrs Aginas, who is six foot tall, needs to sit in the front seat of a car as her arthritis makes it hard for her to get in the back.

The 43-year-old claims the driver said she would crush the handbrake and gearstick if she got in the front. Instead he took her husband and three children and left her to wait with her other children for the next car - the driver of which happily took her home.

She said: "It is rude and offensive. I don't need an articulated lorry to take me. I understand I am overweight but that is down to me. I have never been a skinny person."

Mrs Aginas complained to Milton Keynes Council's licensing team which is now investigating.

Gavin Sokhi of Skyline said: "We treat all customers with respect and do our best regardless of their circumstances.

"Due to the lack of space the first car took the husband and three children, the second vehicle took Mrs Aginas and two children. The second car was able to move the front seat back and accommodate three passengers comfortably.

"I am happy for Mrs Aginas to contact me directly so that I can ensure in future she travels happily."

Trial for slaves accused

SEVEN family members will face trial for alleged slavery offences.

The six men and a woman were arrested after a Bedfordshire Police investigation at the Green Acres Travellers' Site in Little Billington, Leighton Buzzard.

On Monday they pleaded not guilty at Luton Crown Court to numerous slavery, ABH and battery charges. Their trial will start on April 16.

Attack near Mount Farm

A 23-year-old man was robbed and cut with a knife while walking along Bond Avenue near Mount Farm at 7.40am on Monday.

The offender is mixed race, in his late 20s, of medium build and 5ft 11ins to 6ft. Anyone with information should call 101.

Developer for CMK named

BARRATT Homes is 'delighted' to have been picked as the developer of a huge scheme in CMK.

It plans to build 386 apartments, a hotel and leisure facilities, retail units and public open spaces on wasteland between Childs Way, Avebury Boulevard and Witan Gate.

It is currently working with the Homes and Communities Agency, Milton Keynes Council and other local stakeholder groups and aims to submit a planning application in the coming months.

Ian Young, land director at Barratt Northampton, said: "We are currently devising a high profile scheme that will enhance this important area of the town and bring about new investment as well as further strengthen Milton Keynes' position as a destination of choice for businesses and homebuyers alike."

Smoking shelters to be built

SMOKING shelters will be erected at Milton Keynes Hospital to stop smoke affecting the health of babies.

The hospital is a no-smoking site but smokers currently congregate outside the main reception area, which is directly below the neonatal unit.

Despite signs explaining that the smoke goes up to the baby unit people still choose to smoke there with some refusing to move when security guards ask them to.

To remedy the issue, the hospital will erect five smoking shelters around the site.

A spokesman for the hospital said: "Staff and parents in the neonatal unit have understandably got very upset about the problem.

"We ask our patients and visitors, if they choose to smoke when they are on the hospital site, to be considerate of others and especially consider the health of our smallest and most vulnerable patients."

Welfare concerns over mental health centre

IN RECENT weeks I have seen letters from MK residents stating the people opposing the proposed mental health unit at the White Hart site in West Bletchley are being prejudiced and inhumane.

I personally have suffered with mental health issues, have family members who have suffered with, and suffer from, mental health issues, and I lost a close friend a few years ago who was sectioned under the mental health act.

Far from being prejudiced or inhumane, I can sympathise with the patients and became involved because my concerns were as much for the residents of the unit as existing residents.

In my opinion, the proposed unit is far too small for the caring, supportive and positive treatment of 32 people who find themselves at one of their most vulnerable times. If people closely look at the plans they will clearly see the recreational area is smaller than some tiny gardens.

For the residents who already live around the site, I do not feel it is too much to ask that they have concerns and issues addressed by the company and council.

I personally grew up and still live in this area. The parking and traffic are genuine concerns.

The existing plans do not appear to have sufficient parking for the unit and the verges and green areas around this site are already churned up due to insufficient parking for the existing cars. Adding more will just put more pressure on an already bursting area of West Bletchley.

To date, the company has not responded to or attempted to resolve any of these concerns.

I also personally feel that should I ever have the need of such facilities, I would feel very nervous to be housed in a building that is so out of keeping with the local area (state-of-the-art as opposed to mid to late 1900s properties).

Just leaving the property will highlight me and possibly make me feel that I was being judged by the local community rather than being able to just blend in with it. Surely this is the main principle of rehabilitation.

The campaign group is not about opposing the unit residents because they will all be dangerous (that is just ignorant) but about the welfare of all who will be housed in this West Bletchley area.

Therefore, I will still be attending the meeting tomorrow to oppose this application with members of my local community.

Nikki Bloom

Calling for residents to give views at meeting

THE residents of West Bletchley are opposed to the plans for the erection of a mental health centre.

The proposal includes the erection of a part two-storey, part three-storey, 320-bed, male only unit.

The formal application submitted by the developers is due to be considered at Milton Keynes Council's development control meeting at 7pm tomorrow.

The residents have objected to the erection of rehabilitation facility on several grounds.

The facility will also only be used by a small number of local residents as most of the patients will be from outside the area.

I urge residents who are opposed to these plans to turn up for the meeting at the civic offices in large numbers to express their concerns.

Let's start sticking up for city's football club

I QUITE agree with Paul Sutherland's letter (MK NEWS, February 8) when he says that he does not associate Wimbledon with being a local club, mainly because it isn't, it is in London!

The main give away is the start of our club's name which is MK, which due to its location in Milton Keynes makes it fairly local.

AFC Wimbledon and MK Dons are entirely different clubs. MK Dons are recognised by the FA as being a club in its own right.

Let's start dropping the negativity and support our club on its way to the Championship.

Name and address supplied

Will safety worries ever be sorted out?

REGARDING your story 'Concern for child safety' (MK NEWS, February 1).

I am a local resident of Oxley Park (in fact I'm crossing the road with my daughter in the picture in the paper) and cannot agree more with your article.

I do believe it is going to take someone getting seriously hurt or worse before action is taken to allow us to cross the road to school safely.

I literally live about 0.2 miles from the school and take mine and my daughter's lives in my hands just walking to school - I would be safer to drive!

I have to cross three roads to get to Oxley Park Academy and I always cross at the crossing points, but most days there are cars parked on them - where can we cross?

If it's not people trying to get out of the estate or lorries reversing, it's buses weaving in and out of the cars parked on curbs and in bus stops.

I have written several letters to the council, since we moved here in 2006, but still nothing has been put in place - all I'm asking for is for a safe crossing.

I have seen various very near misses.

Police presence stops people for a day and letters and reminders are going out from the head-teacher asking parents to be considerate, but I don't think the issues will stop until there are yellow lines, proper crossings, marked parking bays and maybe a drop off system.

What is it going to take before something is done?

Mark's Monthly Focus

Put your questions to Mark Lancaster MP

THIS month, student Giovanna Lareya puts her questions to Mark Lancaster.

She and her school, Milton Keynes Academy, are members of Citizens:MK, whose goal is to work towards a stronger MK community.

Q: What is your stand on safety, and is this an issue on your agenda?

A: While relatively low compared to other similar size towns, Milton Keynes does experience some level of crime which is why I take the safety of our residents very seriously.

I have been learning about the work of Andre Maingot for KEWAP, a knife crime awareness programme. Andre's courses can be tailored for any age and for those in the corporate world or the local community. Anyone who feels this could benefit them should contact him, and discuss how KEWAP can help create awareness and keep us safe at www.kewap.org.uk.

I was pleased to learn last week that the Government has announced a 'community trigger' scheme, to give local residents the power to blow the whistle on antisocial behaviour and crime.

When this is enforced, I hope citizens will feel they can use the trigger to build a safer neighbourhood.

Q: You have increased the number of apprenticeships available, but what can be done to increase awareness?

A: It is important to remember university is only one option for young people.

As apprenticeships become more available, I am pleased heads of sixth form colleges are beginning to award just as much time to promoting employers and apprenticeship schemes as a genuine alternative.

Last week I visited Hanslope Park to launch the Foreign Office's new apprenticeship scheme where apprentices get excellent training in IT and engineering - part of the reason why we've seen a 70 per cent rise in MK-based apprenticeships.

Recently we have heard the great news from Mercedes Benz that there are 330 new apprenticeship places there.

Hospital's £12.5m on temporary staff

BY SOPHIE SCOTT
editor@mk-news.co.uk

MORE than £3.5 million was spent on hiring temporary staff at the hospital in just nine months.

Figures released through a Freedom of Information request show Milton Keynes Hospital NHS Foundation Trust spent the staggering figure in the first three financial quarters of 2011.

Since this financial year started £3,585,931 has been paid for staff - a rise of more than £800,000 on the previous year with another four months of bills still to come.

Since 2006, the trust has spent £12,538,956 on hiring agency staff to work in the hospital - with the majority of the money going towards nurses and doctors.

This year the hospital faces a funding shortfall of almost £15million.

The figures show that 2008 was the leanest year at a cost of £1,102,135 to taxpayers.

Since 2009 there has been a year-on-year rise, which means that so far this year there has been a 68 per cent rise in costs over just two years.

A hospital spokesman said: "Due to a shortage in some healthcare disciplines, the trust uses agency staff where there is a clear clinical need – for example, midwifes and middle grade doctors in the accident and emergency department. This ensures there is sufficient staffing levels to continue to provide safe, quality care to our patients.

"Milton Keynes Hospital is committed to reducing its spend on agency staff."

Brakes put on parking problems

MEASURES will be put in place to solve parking problems near a school after residents raised safety concerns.

As previously reported by MK NEWS, residents were worried that congestion outside Oxley Park Academy could result in a child being hurt.

At a meeting on Thursday, it was decided buses will be given a different route to avoid the central shopping area.

Double yellow lines will also be painted on the corners of Redgrave Drive and Hepburn Crescent to stop people parking in that area.

Women's charity awarded grant

VULNERABLE women in the city will benefit from a grant awarded to Milton Keynes Women and Work Group (MKWWG).

The Big Lottery Fund awarded the charity £241,464 to run a project called Women without Boundaries.

The project will set up activities that are chosen by the participants using venues that are local to them.

Niz Smith of MKWWG said: "This service will reach those wishing to take their first steps towards improving their lives."

Kids launch 44th annual culture festival

YESTERDAY marked the start of the annual Milton Keynes Festival of the Arts for Dance, Music and Drama.

A month-long programme of performance and cultural activities, competitions and shows taking place across the city was kicked off by young dancers showing off a variety of styles.

Children as young as seven performed Greek, tap and ballet among other forms.

The festival is as old as Milton Keynes itself, after being founded by a group of Bletchley residents in 1968.

Last year more than 2,000 performers attended, 95 per cent of which were children of school age.

This year's festival will run for five weeks and encompasses every genre of performance, from comic verse to Shakespeare, musical theatre to opera, piano to song and dance.

At the festival, each entrant is given constructive advice on their performance from an experienced and professional adjudicator, and awarded a certificate and written feedback sheet.

There are also medals, trophies and prizes on offer.

Bid for city status divides the public

BY DAN PALMER
dan.palmer@mk-news.co.uk

THE Milton Keynes city status bid dramatically divides opinion, according to a recently released survey.

Twenty-six towns are bidding for the city honour as part of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee celebrations and the YouGov poll asked more than 1,600 people what places they thought were the most and least deserving.

Milton Keynes was named as the fifth most deserving town but also the fourth least deserving, leaving results which are diametrically opposed.

Bournemouth, Reading, Perth and Middlesbrough, the top four most deserving towns in that order, do not feature towards the top of the least deserving table.

And Tower Hamlets, Croydon and Luton, the top three least deserving towns, appear at the bottom of the most deserving list.

It is only when it comes to Milton Keynes that people have voted so strongly for one view or the other. Eleven per cent of those surveyed said it was the least deserving, while ten per cent said it was the most.

Interestingly, MK was named as the most deserving city by 18 to 24-year-olds with a 17 per cent share.

Debbie Brock, a Milton Keynes councillor for Olney, has been championing the bid.

She said: "It's great that people outside of MK identify with our aspirations and the negative views can be seen as a good thing, it means we have a high profile.

"People know we are out there."

Swan rescued from ice

A RESCUE sled had to be used by firefighters on Monday after a swan became stranded on the ice. The unfortunate bird was stuck on its back at Willen Lake South after flying into cables on Brickhill Street. Firefighters from Newport Pagnell helped the RSPCA in the rescue.

Dumped car owner fined

A WOMAN was left nearly £1,400 out of pocket on Friday when she was found guilty of abandoning a car in Broughton.

Emma Rooney, 21, of Barnsbury Gardens, Newport Pagnell, was found guilty by Milton Keynes magistrates who fined her £525 for the offence.

She was also ordered to pay £225 in compensation to Milton Keynes Council for disposing the vehicle, and ordered to pay its legal costs of £626.24.

Magistrates heard how, in May, she dumped her red Peugeot 106 in a parking bay in Laxfield Drive, Broughton. The maximum penalty is a £2,500 fine, or three months in jail.

Pub to say thank you to fire crews

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

STAFF at a village pub which was ravaged by fire are paying tribute to the firefighters who tackled the blaze.

And there will be a special fire-themed menu to feed customers.

The Swan Inn in Milton Keynes Village has organised a charity fundraiser to say thanks to the firefighters for their quick response and hard work.

While most of the thatched roof was destroyed by the blaze on December 7, the Charles Wells pub was able to reopen again less then three weeks later, thanks to the firefighters' work to contain the flames at the 13th century building.

Pub manager Tyrone Bentham said: "The fire at the Swan Inn started in less than four minutes and quickly took hold of the whole building.

"The first fire engine was not far behind and immediately tackled the flames.

"I will be eternally grateful to the firefighters and the locals - this charity event is just a little way of saying thanks."

The ticketed charity event on Monday, February 27, will feature a fire inspired menu costing £25, with £5 from every meal donated to The Fire Fighters Charity.

Blaze: The fire at the Swan Inn that destroyed the thatched roof

There will also be a raffle and charity auction.

Chef Ben Hars said: "It has been fun developing the menu, I hope people will be able to see the fire references throughout.

"I've renamed starters 'The Spark', mains 'The Fire' and desserts 'The Smoulder', so expect chargrilled sausages, fiery spices and blackened steak if you come for the fundraiser."

Tickets for the evening are available in advance.

To book a table, or to offer a donation to The Fire Fighters Charity, either call the Swan Inn on 01908 665240, or e-mail info@theswan-mkvillage.co.uk.

The Fire Fighters Charity is the UK's leading provider of services that enhance the quality of life for serving and retired fire service personnel and their families.

Louie shall go to the ball this year

BY ANNA MAUREMOOTOO
anna. mauremootoo@mk-news.co.uk

CHRISTMAS has come early for panto fans in the city after Milton Keynes Theatre announced dance diva Louie Spence will be taking to the stage.

Louie, who is currently a judge on ITV's Dancing on Ice, enjoyed playing Dandini at The Opera House in Manchester so much that he was eager to don his tights once more and play the role at Milton Keynes Theatre.

As a result, this year's panto has been changed from Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs to Cinderella - oh yes it has!

Louie said: "I can't wait to get my panto sparkle back on next Christmas.

"Milton Keynes has an amazing theatre and I'm sure the audiences and I will have a ball!"

The notoriously camp Pineapple Dance Studio star will no doubt add an extra sprinkling of magic to the show when he pirouettes onto the stage at the end of the year.

His bubbly personality and infamous enthusiasm earnt him standing ovations at every show in Manchester and broke box office records.

Louie, who is now a household name, is no stranger to the stage having joined the original award-winning cast of Miss Saigon and appearing in Cats.

Along with the dazzling Dandini, Cinderella hosts a glittering combination of everything a traditional pantomime could wish for - a handsome prince, enchanting fairy godmother, the boo-able ugly sisters and unsung hero, Buttons.

And the excitement doesn't stop there with the theatre offering new deals, including discounts for families and large groups, free ice creams for school parties and a senior citizen special.

Performances of Cinderella will run from December 7 to January 6.

Tickets cost between £12 and £32.

For more information, call the Milton Keynes Theatre box office on 0844 8717652.

Alternatively visit the website at www.atgtickets.com/miltonkeynes.

Adding the sparkle: Louie Spence has been named as the star of this year's pantomime at Milton Keynes Theatre

Popular: The Woburn Oyster Festival attracted big crowds

Oysters off menu as festival is shell-ved

BY KEELEY KNOWLES
editor@mk-news.co.uk

ORGANISERS of an oyster festival say something 'drastic' had to change after the event became too big.

Instead there'll be a more low-key fete taking place in Woburn after the decision was taken that the 18-year festival could not go on as it was.

It follows a number of incidents in recent years, including a fight last September.

Spokesman for the Oyster Festival, Elfyn Grove, said they'd had discussions with the Duke of Bedford - who lives in the nearby Woburn Abbey - and his staff over concerns that had been raised.

He said a lot of people weren't happy about what the event had become and at incidents taking place 'of an unsavoury nature'.

Mr Grove said it had become very big and that the parking was also 'silly' last year.

He added: "The Duke, health and safety officers and the police have some concerns - although the police haven't got major concerns - but it does give them something else to think about.

"After meetings with the Duke, his representatives and safety groups, it's agreed we can't have another one as we have had it."

In place of the Oyster Festival Mr Grove said there were discussions about a village fete, a more 'local' event with jazz, folk and opera - perhaps attracting a less rowdy crowd.

Residents pay to 'put heart back' in village

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

ONE community has banded together and will this week open their own shop after the previous one closed.

The shop is owned by residents that have bought shares between the value of £10 and £20,000.

And this weekend the shop in Sherington, which also offers a post office service, will open.

The village's only shop closed 18 months ago and its post office shut in May 2009.

So residents took matters into their own hands and they now have a temporary facility, with a view to making it permanent at a later date.

For the time being, the shop will be in a portacabin-style unit next to the village hall.

Nigel Blight is a co-founder of Shopco, set up to organise the initiative.

He said: "This is putting the heart back into the village, because in the last three years we've lost the shop, post office and a pub.

"We started fundraising in March and we've now raised about £28,000.

"We've bought the unit and have the utilities connected.

"The man who runs the village shop in Castlethorpe will be running it for us. We will be renting the space to him.

"Trying to get volunteers to run the shop is quite a commitment and way beyond our capabilities.

"Villagers have either donated or bought shares - no-one is expecting to get a profit, it's their contribution to the village."

The villagers are currently in negotiations with Milton Keynes Council for another £6,000 of parish partnership funding.

The shop will open on Saturday, with an official opening in March.

MK NEWS went out on the streets in Sherington to ask: What do you think of the idea of the community shop?

"I THINK it's good, I'm really glad to see a shop back in the village - I've missed it.

"It will be good to be able to go for the essentials.

"The post office element will be a welcome return as well."

Jane Connor, Church Road

"I CAN'T see it working myself.

"It's been closed for a while, so people are used to going elsewhere for shopping.

"It will be handy for newspapers and the post office, but we need to go to Kingston for larger shopping trips.

Trevor Findull, School Lane

"I LIVE right opposite and I don't think it's the right place for it.

"It might be the centre of the village, but it needs to be on the high street where it can be accessed by more people."

Mark King, Church Road

"I DIDN'T think it would come off, but now it's there I'll be using it, particularly the post office.

"I'm hoping it will last because there's a lot of people involved and everyone's put a lot of work into it."

Jean Chambers, Gun Lane

SPORT RELIEF 2012

We are offering

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

IF YOU get up and get out there on Sunday, March 25, you could be helping some very special people in the city.

Those taking part in the Sainsbury's Sport Relief Mile in Midsummer Boulevard on that day will be raising money, not only for people across the UK and the rest of the world, but also right here in Milton Keynes.

So if you decide to walk, run, hop, skip or jump your way to the end, you can be sure you will be making a difference right here in your city.

Already applications for grants are piling up from community groups, teams and local charities hoping to grab a slice of the £50,000 we have to offer, from money that will be raised by people taking part in Sport Relief.

If you are a member, organiser or founder of any group in Milton Keynes that helps others, then make sure to get your application in to be in with a chance of being awarded a grant of between £500 and £1,000.

Two years ago, Steve Jones from Social Eyes did just that.

The initiative is a charitable organisation based in Bradwell Abbey, set up to raise awareness of the difficulties, challenges and triumphs experienced by visually impaired young people on a day-to-day basis.

The project provides appropriate educational and social activities, along with practical information.

It offers support to visually impaired young people and their parents, carers and families.

The project is open to visually impaired young people from babies to age 25 who are registered blind or partially sighted, living in Buckinghamshire, Bedfordshire or Northamptonshire.

Steve, 53, set it up about six years ago as his own son, who is now studying at The University of Northampton, is visually impaired.

He said: "We do different events such as a big Christmas party, camping, an Easter party, theatre trips, a quiz night and a youth club.

"We help about 40 families and there's one family that has three children that are part of our group - it's about 66 children and young people we support.

"We got £1,000 from Sport Relief, which we put towards our different events throughout the year, such as our camping trip."

It's groups like these that should apply for this year's round of grants.

MK NEWS editor Cally Jenkins, along with Bart Gamber from the MK Community Foundation, will be sitting on the panel that will decide which groups will be successful.

Sue Wicks, UK grants manager for Comic Relief, which runs Sport Relief, said: "Comic Relief is delighted to be working with MK NEWS and offering Sport Relief Community Cash to local groups in Milton Keynes.

"We have funded some truly fantastic projects in the city in previous years and are looking forward to seeing some new groups applying this time.

"Thanks to the hard work of these groups, money raised through Sport Relief can get right to the heart of the local community and make a real difference where it is most needed.

"I urge as many groups as possible to get their applications in now for their chance to get a

Meanwhile, today marks the launch of Sport Relief's socks.

The Union Jack inspired design socks cost only £2.50, with at least £1.25 going to Sport Relief, and are part of the official merchandise range available at Sainsbury's.

The supermarket is hoping to raise more than £5million for Sport Relief this year, with all its profits from the merchandise range going towards this target.

The funds raised will help people living incredibly tough lives in the UK and across the world's poorest countries.

Aside from buying the socks, there are lots of ways you can get involved in Sport Relief this year, but the main way to raise much-needed funds is to take part in the Sainsbury's Sport Relief Mile.

More than a million men, women and children are expected to take part in the event as they raise cash to change lives at home and abroad.

And, with a whole weekend of top Sport Relief telly planned across the BBC, it's all set to be huge.

From David Walliams' Thames swim to Eddie Izzard's 43 marathons in 51 days, Sport Relief has a unique history of brave celebrities taking on gruelling physical challenges to raise cash and change lives.

Sport Relief 2012 will be no exception with The BT Sport Relief challenges - a series of celebrity endurance feats.

Actress and Strictly Come Dancing winner Kara Tointon is one of those helping to raise cash.

She said: "Set yourself a challenge and sign up to do a Sainsbury's Sport Relief Mile at sportrelief.com.

"It's a great way to have fun, do sport and do good – and for that reason, I'm in.

"Sainsbury's is selling its special Sport Relief Socks for only £2.50 – get yourself a pair and inject a bit of colour into the proceedings."

Cally added: "Reporters and other staff from the paper will be entering a team into the mile, so make sure to join us on the day.

"You don't have to be fit - you can cover the mile in anyway you want, you don't have to run.

"As long as you cross that finish line and raise as much money as you can, you know you will be doing your bit."

To enter, just visit www.sportrelief.com.

HOW TO APPLY

IF THIS sounds like you, make sure you apply for a Sport Relief Community Cash grant now by visiting www.mkcf.co.uk/Supporting-You/Grants/Sport-Relief-Community-Cash, where you will be asked to enter an e-mail address. An application form will then be e-mailed to you.

If you need to receive the form in a different format, call the Community Foundation grants team on 01908 690276, or visit MK Community Foundation, Acorn House, 381 Midsummer Boulevard, Central Milton Keynes. The deadline for applications is Friday, March 16.

Applicants will be notified of the panel's decision after April 20.

Given a helping hand: Founder of Social Eyes, Steve Jones, back left, with Lauren Brucass and dad Jason, who volunteers for the charity

Mile needs volunteers

THERE are plenty of ways to raise money for Sport Relief 2012.

But if you are one of Milton Keynes' less sporty citizens, there are different ways you can help out.

On Sunday, March 25, the Sainsbury's Sport Relief Mile will be taking over the city centre, with thousands of people expected to be running, walking, and otherwise making their way up the length of Midsummer Boulevard.

So on the day, if you have decided you don't wish to complete the mile but still want to do your bit for Sport Relief, why not volunteer to be part of the event organisation on the day?

Milton Keynes Council is looking to recruit enthusiastic volunteers to help make the city's mile go off with a bang.

There are a number of volunteer roles you can get involved in to do your bit for a cause that helps so many others.

Up to 100 volunteers are needed, so put your name down to help at the MK Sport Relief Mile by contacting Emily Smith on 01908 254164, or e-mailing emily.smith@milton-keynes.gov.uk and full event details will follow.

There is a new leader of the pack at safari park

A NEW king of the jungle has arrived at Woburn Safari Park and is being primed to take over the top spot as leader.

Kasanga, a beautiful two-year-old lion, is being introduced to the established hierarchy in the pride and he has already begun exploring his 32-acre reserve.

During his first two months he has been out in the paddock and reserve, scent-marking and learning to walk alongside the Landrovers, to get accustomed to traffic in preparation to introduce him to the rest of the group.

Robert White, team leader of the carnivores section, said: "The team of keepers has already noticed some definite flirting with Tallulah, one of the females, who was rolling around on her back and rubbing against the pen next to him.

"This is really encouraging and we are hoping he will breed with Tallulah."

Dons' community work hits the net

BY DAN PALMER

dan.palmer@mk-news.co.uk

MK DONS are officially one of the best community football clubs in the country.

The Football League has been so impressed with the work going on at stadiummk that Dons have been named community club of the year for the south east.

It means that the club is in contention for the national prize with other regional winners.

A Football League statement said: "Undertaking key community projects in health, social inclusion, education and sports participation, Milton Keynes Dons displayed strong levels of engagement across all categories.

"Through its work the club has managed to connect with over 34,000 people locally in the last year, a really impressive statistic."

John Cove, chief executive of the MK Dons Sport and Education Trust, added: "Clearly, we are all delighted at this recognition of our work.

"It is an illustration of what we can achieve through the robust and innovative partnerships that exist locally and I would like to thank everyone who has supported our community work in whatever way that has enabled us to achieve this fantastic accolade for the club and Milton Keynes."

The overall winner will be announced at the Football League Awards in London on March 11, with Bury, Portsmouth, Notts County and Rotherham United also in the running.

Cupboard turned into police office

Community spirit: A crowd turned out for the office's official opening on Monday

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

COMMUNITY spirit and an increased police presence are being credited for lowering crime in one part of the city.

That's the view of those who are occupying a new neighbourhood police and community office in North Tenth Street in CMK.

Since the office was opened about three weeks ago in a former caretaker's storage cupboard, reports of crime have dropped from ten in the same period last year to zero.

The office was officially opened on Monday in a joint initiative between the Central Housing Residents' Association, which represents 280 people in the area, and Thames Valley Police.

Robert Stones, chairman of the residents' association, said: "The idea is to create somewhere local residents can drop in and discuss any issues like housing, antisocial behaviour and noisy neighbours - something people wouldn't approach the council about.

"People know they can come here, have a cup of tea and have a chat with someone.

"If we create a community spirit the community will look after itself and that's started happening. We've already dealt with 30 residents and 16 issues have been solved completely."

The office will also be used by the area's neighbourhood police so people can drop in to see them, or to process offenders of more minor crimes.

Jim Lake, neighbourhood police officer, said: "My colleagues will be here on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, or whenever there's a sign outside.

"There's been a massive drop in crime already, there's been nothing reported since it opened.

"There were problems with drugs and antisocial behaviour.

"The difference is presence and community spirit. There's a sense the community is being born and with community comes power."

Farewell to popular ambulance worker

BY ANNA MAUREMOOTOO
anna.mauremootoo@mk-news.co.uk

AFTER 37 years of service in the local community, an ambulance driver has retired because he feels left behind.

Gary Davies, 57, began his career with the South Central Ambulance Service (SCAS) in 1975 and has seen a lot of change over the decades.

As an ambulance technician he assisted paramedics in providing lifesaving care as well as driving the ambulance.

Although he was due to retire at 60, he decided to leave early because he believes in the last 18 months too much has changed too quickly.

He said: "It's good to talk, I've always talked to patients and their relatives and I can't get my head round the fact that people in the service e-mail me about patients."

He explained that when he started out in his career there was a lot less paper work.

Although Mr Davies has left SCAS, he will be carrying on his good work throughout his retirement with North Chiltern Ambulance Service, transporting patients to and from out patient appointments.

He said: "There are no drugs and no paper work involved just tender-loving care."

Mr Davies will be leaving behind many friends but he has promised that he'll call in for a cuppa throughout the year.

He said: "It's been a great career and I've enjoyed every minute of it.

"My colleagues are like family to me."

Vicky Holliday, SCAS area manager said: "Gary will be greatly missed by all his colleagues."

Saying goodbye: Gary Davies has retired after nearly 40 years

No mountain too high for soldiers

Challange: Capt Bill Holland prepares for the climb

BY ANNA MAUREMOOTOO

anna.mauremootoo@mk-news.co.uk

A DEDICATED fundraiser has set his sights high and is attempting to scale Mount Kilimanjaro with four battle-injured amputees.

The climb, called Sharpe's Summit, will raise money for two military causes - Pilgrim Bandits and Care for Casualties - as well as providing a moral boosting adventurous training experience for the soldiers whose lives have been changed through their injuries.

Captain Bill Holland, a member of the Milton Keynes based E Company, 7 Rifles, and his colleagues set off on the 10-day expedition today and are hoping to proudly stand on top of Africa's highest peak and set numerous records for amputees.

He said: "I'm a keen mountaineer so this challenge really appealed to me and it will help support two fantastic military charities."

Care for Casualties is the Rifles own charity set up because it continually has troops deployed and as a consequence has suffered a great number of casualties.

Capt Holland has been fundraising for several years and has raised between £20,000 and £30,000 for the charities.

And he is clearly not afraid of a challenge having spent 12 hours on a treadmill outside the Co-op in Newport Pagnell on Saturday.

He will also be running in the Milton Keynes marathon with a fridge strapped to his back.

There's been a strong of support for the exercise and Capt Holland is extremely grateful.

He said: "We've had fantastic support.

"Milton Keynes is a town that really gets behind its forces."

Going bananas for a people's orchard

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

A BANANA tree is just one of the things schoolchildren in one town would like to see in a new community orchard.

Stony Stratford Town Council will tomorrow consult with residents about planting an orchard in Mortimer Park, in Calverton Road near the old pumping station.

And already children from Russell Street School in the town have been submitting paintings to the council of things they would like to see planted.

The park, named after the late Pat Mortimer who was a respected and long-serving parish councillor, is set to be spruced up after the land, formerly the Calverton Recreation Field, fell within the Stony Stratford parish area in recent boundary changes.

Ian Reed, deputy town clerk for the council, said: "A community orchard is something that's been a long-term aim for the council.

"It's all about community engagement, which will give everyone the oppotunity to benefit from the things that grow there."

The consultation in Stony Stratford Library tomorrow is to give residents the chance to have their say on the plans and get involved in the project from the earliest opportunity.

Mr Reed added: "The whole point of having the orchard is to have people involved from the first point - we want them to give us an idea of what they want.

"I think this will be really welcomed in Stony Stratford - as a litmus test we can take Stony In Bloom, when community involvement was first class.

"It could be a future venue for Stony Live, we could have an apple day, so it's in use around the year. But this is all subject to the consultation."

The town council and Stony in Bloom are also working on a Big Tree Plant application - a Government scheme to encourage communities to work together to provide trees where they live and work. Tomorrow the public will be consulted on the sites where this could take place and asked to identify other areas that could benefit from tree planting.

Having their say: Children from Russell Street School with deputy clerk Ian Reed and councillors Joan Walker and Judy Deveson at the library

Auction in aid of charity is at risk

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

STUDENTS organising an auction in aid of a charity close to their friends' hearts are appealing for more people to buy tickets.

So far only 50 of 300 tickets for the auction at Oakgrove School have been sold.

The students have organised the auction in aid of the Multiple Sclerosis Society as the condition affects the families of two pupils at the school.

But if not enough tickets are sold, the auction will have to be cancelled and the lots returned to the donors.

Fourteen-year-old Zophia Francis is one of the eight organisers and said the cause is important to her as her mum has MS.

She said: "We sent letters to 300 companies and phoned some of them up and we've had 63 donations.

"They've sent in things like signed celebrity photos, such as Tinie Tempah, a £100 Primark voucher, a Paul's Boutique bag, Fossil watches, family tickets to Legoland and MK Dons tickets.

"MS affects your nervous system - my mum can't walk and doesn't get to do the things we can because you lose your muscle strength and she's very delicate in places.

At risk: Malika Ahmed and Zophia Francis with some of the lots for the Oakgrove School charity aution, which may have to be sent back

"The charity has really helped out.

"They donte things to us and in return we help them out by raising money for them."

The auction, organised as part of a school project, is due to take place on Wednesday, February 29 at the school and there will be refreshments and entertainment on the night.

Fellow organiser Malika Ahmed, 14, said: "If we don't sell as many tickets as we need, everything will have to be sent back and we've worked hard on it so it would all go to waste."

Tickets are available from the school reception (from Monday after the end of the half-term break) and cost £1 for adults and 50p for children, who must be accompanied by an adult.

Society is steaming

TWICE as big as last year, preparations for what promises to be the best model railway exhibition this side of the West Coast Main Line are definitely on track.

Reporter ADAM GRINSELL spoke to members of Milton Keynes Model Railway Society to find out what it's all about.

ONE of the city's oldest hobby clubs, the Milton Keynes Model Railway Society, had almost 30,000 visitors to its club house in one of Bletchley Park's former codebreaking huts last year.

Hidden away in the park, it still attracts this huge amount of visitors - but why?

Perhaps it's the dedication of the members. They give up a lot of their free time to design and build layouts, meeting every Tuesday night and weekend, and most Friday nights. Not being a model railway enthusiast myself, you can see how seriously the members take the subject.

On entering their clubhouse-cum-museum you can view railway memorabilia and old photographs lining the walls of the corridor - this continues inside with numerous, lovingly cared for models from around the world and from every era filling up every nook and cranny.

Inside, there's around a dozen model railways of different shapes and sizes - some take several years in man hours of painstaking work to make, such as the ten-foot-long, award-winning Norgate.

Exhibition manager Terry Silver said: "If you look at the Norgate scene there's a graveyard, a funeral taking place and even a couple of gravediggers preparing the next plot, as well as other things to look at."

Onlookers are then challenged

to find all the different goings-on.

Terry added: "In building something like this you need to call on the skills of all of the members - you start by building the baseboards, then lay the track, and what takes longest is the wiring.

"Everyone is good at a certain thing - some are good at laying track, some know a lot about wiring and computers, so you have to call on everyone."

Set up in 1969, around the time the new city was beginning its growth spurt, the club now boasts almost 80 members which include people in Canada and Australia, who pay a visit every time they are back in England.

Terry says interest in model railways is now growing again.

"People are coming back into it because it's more sophisticated.

"The hobby has completely evolved in the last 15 years to quite sophisitcated model railways with computerised controls and noises, so it's more readily available to people of all ages."

Maybe this is the reason they are execting around 2,000 people to their exhibition this weekend.

Started in 1994 with 500 visitors, the exhibition has grown significantly since then until last year it had almost 1,500 visitors.

This year the club has had to expand it into two halls, will have 24 different layouts from around the country (including Norgate) and will also have 20 traders and model-making demonstrations.

■ The exhibition is taking place from 10am-4pm on Saturday at Courtside Sports Hall, Bletchley, opposite the railway station.

Admission is £4 for adults, £2.50 for children/concessions, or £9 for families, with free parking.

Successful Businesses 2012

During a recession, can businesses actually flourish?

Well, 2012 sees us with austerity measures in place in most countries, but as always there are businesses that do flourish, in fact some businesses blossom in the face of recession and austerity.

PC sales have gone up, companies like Apple have seen their businesses jump in leaps and bounds.Gadgets are hugely popular and whilst they aren't actually necessary, the fast life we now lead, powers us to want them.

New technological advances in TV entertainment means that sales have been maintained. 3D TV & flat screen technology, have both helped in this area.

Accountants tend to thrive in recessional times, people still have to pay their taxes and businessess need to get the most out of their income. Financial advisors normally see an increase during these times as people need to consolidate or find the best mortgage. When moving house is not an option, they also assist on finding a loan to improve our homes and protect our assets.

Healthcare companies are still going strong as this is an area that never changes whether the times are good or bad. Rental and property agents often see their businesses grow as people who manage to sell their houses decide to rent rather than purchase whilst the recession is on.

It's often said that sales of cosmetics and beauty treatments tend to soar during these times as women try and look for the feel-good factor. Bargain or discount shops always thrive and very often expand as people no longer shop until they drop, preferring to seek more for their money. Recruitment companies can actually do very well as people look to see if they can better their income during this period.

Car repair companies can be very busy as people look to keep their vehicles in shape, rather than wait to find that their car is ready for the scrapheap, rather than purchase new.

Franchise businesses thrive as it is seen to be one of the safest ways of entering the business world as it is normally a proven template. Often people can find restaurants for sale at very competitive prices, so if you are prepared to take a risk it could be the perfect time to invest. This then gives solicitors, banks, printers, office supplies and many other industries a boost as well.

Here are some other local businesses who have stood the test of time, and have managed to stay afloat during an economic downturn offering their customers, good value, great service and very importantly, continuity promoting trust and confidence.....

Home from home

Are you a hotel user? How about an alternative that offers more space, no hidden extras AND saves you money?

What is the alternative?

A serviced apartment! Which is a fully furnished apartment with all services included and a house-maid service that are available for short, medium or long term stays.

What are the benefits?

Serviced apartments are often cheaper than local hotels of a similar standard and offer far more living space, greater flexibility and fully inclusive facilities.

Cotels fully furnished and fully equipped serviced apartments provide a comfortable, relaxing and practical home-from-home for busy travelling professionals. They offer great value in comparison to most local hotels of a similar standard and offer much more overall – more space, no hidden extras and lots of flexibility – especially for stays of one week or more.

Having been established since 1997, Cotels pioneered serviced apartments in Milton Keynes and remain the market leaders in the sector. We are passionate about the business and have years of experience, so can be instrumental in helping you find the right accommodation at the right price.

asap

Cotels specialise in corporate stays and can accommodate both your budget, quality and location requirements as well as providing pleasant surroundings to suit the more personal needs of the guest.

LOVE INTERRUPTION

Jack White

LAST week it was one of his songs, this week it's the man himself.

Moving on then, and you know how I've berated people in the past for bringing out singles that don't sound finished?

Well, this is almost as minimal as it's possible to get, but it works just fine as it is.

There's Jack White, a backing singer, a guitar, one or two other bits and that's it.

No drums of any kind. It runs at a fairly relaxed pace, to the extent that the second verse is initially sung a cappella, almost as if Jack White decided the song didn't even need an accompaniment anymore.

Here we are living in an era when singers can hide behind AutoTune, slick dance moves and huge backing tracks to detract from their limitations and Jack White goes it alone without any kind of safety net and he doesn't even need to do it, he just stops playing his guitar until he's good and ready to restart.

There's confidence for you. Reader, we are miles away from Seven Nation Army here. Actually, we're miles away from anything that's in the Top 40 right now and that alone has to be a good thing.

I said earlier that this is a minimal sounding song, but just for a change I mean it positively.

Very positively in fact, because this is top drawer stuff.

ROCKSTAR

Dappy featuring Brian May

IF YOU'RE a Queen completist, you might want to steer clear of this because although there are guitar noises throughout, Brian May himself actually only gets around 20 seconds in which to do his stuff properly.

As for Dappy, well, judging by the lyrics you'd be forgiven for thinking the poor fellow's not long for this earth.

The first verse mentions the myth that every single pop star who's ever died did so at the age of 27, with Dappy wondering if he's only got three years left before he joins them.

"The pressure and the stress are both dying to see the end of me," he continues, going on to emphasise that he "ain't afraid to die young" and then name checking Brian Jones and Amy Winehouse for good measure.

The music's poppy and upbeat, but the words, if you ask me, somebody really needs to give Dappy a hug, pronto.

SEVEN CAVES, PLUS FRIENDS

Saturday

IF YOU love giant sized anthemic indie rock songs with a slight cool contemporary edge, the sort produced by Kasabian, Stone Roses, The Music, Editors and Oasis, then you will fall in love with Seven Caves.

Formed in 2007, they have gone through various line-ups and are finally where they want to be.

Between the band members there have been record deals, session work and even an MTV music award.

Fusing their indie rock roots with groove based rhythms, Seven Caves have a huge, powerful sound, built from massive heart felt anthems.

This proud British indie rock band are currently completing recording a debut album at Milton Keynes' Eastwood Studios and plan to use this show as a special completion launch party with an official summer 2012 release and tour to follow.

Guests are the Paul Hegley Band. Paul is a singer/songwriter-guitarist who has played since he was ten years old.

Seven Caves

He has now been joined by a band made up of a bass player, drummer and percussionist, which gives Paul's well written and unique songs that extra edge.

The New Town Killers will also be performing great indie rock songs to entertain the crowd, as well as contemporary female solo singer-songwriter Gilly Nina.

She fuses piano, guitar and keyboards with an elegant, haunting voice over subtle electronica soundscapes creating a highly emotive, thought-provoking style.

FILM REVIEW

THIS MEANS WAR (12A)

Synopsis: Romantic-action-comedy with spies
Who's in it: Reese Witherspoon, Chris Pine, Tom Hardy

COUNTLESS films have been based around the simple premise of a love triangle, but how many of them have had CIA spies and action sequences thrown in for good measure?

In This Means War, Joseph McGinty Nichol, better known as McG, tries to do just that and the results are fairly successful.

Two corners of the triangle are made up by the CIA's Tuck and Foster (Chris Pine and Tom Hardy), who are best friends while doing their day job.

They discover that both of them have been stepping out with the same women (Lauren, played by Reese Witherspoon) and this begins a series of comical one-upmanship as both men try to come out on top.

Despite the title, it never actually becomes a full-out war as everything remains light-hearted.

And that has to be a good thing as matters turn out to be a lot more fun due to the seriousness levels being toned down a notch.

As they are spies, Tuck and Foster have numerous gadgets and gizmos to play with in their battle for supremacy.

Expect high-tech stunts, explosions and a few superbly timed one-liners as the competition for Lauren's heart hots up.

It's predictable fare but the double-act of Tuck and Foster are played well by Pine and Hardy, who are quick-witted and in the main, funny.

Witherspoon makes a good leading lady but a supporting role by Chelsea Handler is the one you really need to watch out for - she'll give you the biggest laughs.

The end of the film, which won't be given away here, is a tad disappointing, but nobody going to see it should expect anything completely groundbreaking.

In a way McG has tried to cater for both the males and the females in the audience with the film - there's explosions and such for the guys and soppy rom-com type situations for the girls.

That makes the film a great one to watch at the cinema with a significant other because there is, as the saying goes, a little bit of something for everyone.

EXTREMELY LOUD AND INCREDIBLY CLOSE (12A)

Synopsis: A young boy tries to solve a puzzle left by his father
Who's in it: Tom Hanks, Thomas Horn, Sandra Bullock

TOM Hanks stars in this film adaptation of the novel of the same name, which was written by Jonathan Safran Foer.

The Forest Gump star plays Thomas Schell, who is revealed early on to have been killed in the September 11 attacks.

Don't worry though as he still has a major role to play in the film, along with Thomas' son Oskar, played by Thomas Horn.

The film bombards you with pathos which sadly is far too cringeworthy - this is a good story but on the big screen it has come out far too soppy. A case of the book being better than the film.

WYVALE, WOBURN SANDS

GREENFINGERED youngsters are invited to show off their imaginative skills by creating a model using one of the county's best-loved vegetables.

Staff at Wyevale Woburn Sands Garden Centre are challenging children to create weird and wonderful creatures and people from potatoes and take them along to the centre.

Children aged from four to 11 can enter the competition and entry forms are available from the garden centre.

Dominic Wright, manager of the garden centre, explained: "The competition is part of our Grow Your Own Potatoes Weekend, which takes place on Saturday and Sunday.

"It is a fun idea and we hope as many youngsters as possible enter. The models will be on display at the garden centre and we will choose the winner.

"We don't have any hard and fast rules but we are looking for some really creative and fun models."

There are two age categories - four to seven years old and eight to 11 years old. Any shape/size potato can be entered. The closing date for entries is noon on Sunday. The models will be put on display and the winners will then be chosen by the garden centre.

TASTE LIFE

MUMBAI2SHANGHAI

Buckingham Road, Bletchley, 01908 645000

I CONSIDER myself to be fairly adventurous.

So when I heard there was a restaurant that offers menus of both Indian and Oriental dishes, my eyes lit up.

Just looking at the menu for Mumbai2Shanghai makes my stomach rumble and my mouth salivate.

All the traditional Indian dishes you would expect - from korma to vindaloo - with some house specialties thrown in such as dhaba of laziz.

And then there are favourite Thai curry dishes of all colours, crispy duck, noodles, satays, spring rolls - the list goes on.

So extensive and diverse is the menu, that initially I was worried the standard would not live up to what I was imagining.

But the food really is excellent.

Sitting down you are presented with a well-stocked wine list and a mixture of popadoms and prawn crackers - unusual but, looking at the menu, not entirely surprising.

There's a choice of Indian and Oriental starters, so I opted for hot and sour soup, with shitaki mushrooms and chicken, in which the spicy hotness did not take anything away from the taste.

My razella chicken main course - a medium-hot dish cooked with crushed spices - was also well flavoured and a delightful change of pace from the Oriental starter.

All the usual accompaniments, rices and naans are available.

Perhaps the star of the show though was my partner's prawn sagwalla. Although a regular on Indian menus around the country, this was by far one of the best I have tasted.

The spinach, which can quite often be used too heavily, played second fiddle to the strong prawn flavour, so the plate became almost a seafood rather than curry dish, while maintaining a slight heat.

All of this, rounded off by a refreshing mango kulfi, is set in a modern and relaxing setting.

Highly recommended.

CITY LIMITS, XSCAPE

THE COMEDY CLUB

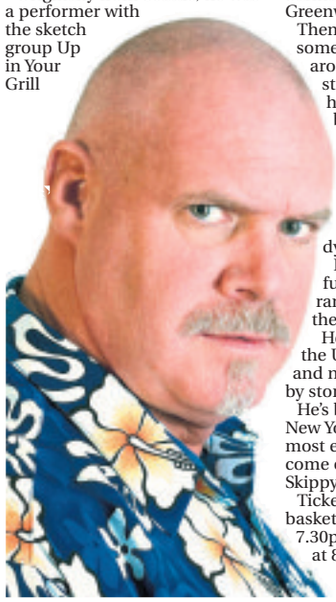
Thursday, February 23

LAUGH off those February blues with this month's Comedy Club offering.

The show includes three top comedians.

Host comedian, Erich McElroy, started doing stand-up in Britain five years ago.

Originally from Seattle, he was a performer with the sketch group Up in Your Grill and has a degree in acting.



In 2006 Erich took his show Brokeback Britain to Edinburgh with Australian stand-up Pete Jonas and together they won the Official Fringe Sell Out Award.

Opening comedian Rich Wilson's comedy aspirations lay dormant until he got a job as a barman at a comedy club in Greenwich.

Then in 2004, following some back slapping by those around him, Rich hit the stage and even amazed himself and hasn't looked back since.

Headliner Colin Cole, pictured, is literally one of the biggest names in comedy in Australia - not only is he 6' 7", he is also known for his hugely dynamic performance.

His delivery is fast and furious, and his material ranges from the topical to the observational.

He has toured extensively in the US, Canada and Hawaii and now he's also taking the UK by storm.

He's been described by The New York Times as 'One of the most exciting performers to come out of Australia since Skippy'.

Tickets cost £14.95, including a basket meal. Doors open at 7.30pm with the show starting at 8.30pm.

To book, call the box office on 01908 295200.

Financial Freedom

YOUR FINANCES

A Cree Indian Proverb tells us 'Only when the last tree has died and the last river been poisoned and the last fish been caught will we realise we cannot eat money'.

And it's true, money isn't the be all and end all. It can't buy you happiness - but it certainly helps.

You may not be the next Sir Alan Sugar - or even his latest apprentice - but there are many ways to be clever with your cash. Even ever-so slight changes to your daily routine can save pounds and put you a few steps closer to that dream house or holiday you've always wanted.

For instance, did you know that turning down your thermostat by just one degree will cut your heating bill by 10 per cent? And you will be helping to save the planet too.

While a bookshelf-lined study would look good in your house it's an awful lot cheaper to use that grand old institution, the public library.

With up to 48 channels and 24 radio stations freeview is the way forward. For a small initial payment you can say goodbye to those never-ending direct debits and say hello to the occasional treat for yourself instead.

Everybody loves to buy the occasional sandwich but getting them everyday is an expensive luxury. Why not make up your own delicious selections during the week and spend the money you've saved on enjoying a leisurely weekend lunch with friends instead?

Making a shopping list will help you save money. Yes, it's true! Organising your meals beforehand and buying the right ingredients saves you not only money but time too. Spend your savings on a trip to the cinema, or a night down the pub instead.

Once you find the money piling up try investing it and enjoy that much sought-after sense of security. Either that or blow it all on something you have always, secretly, wanted.

THE DEFINITIVE GUIDE TO YOUR NEXT HOME IN AND AROUND MILTON KEYNES

MKNEWS Homesnow©

Monkston Park

A TRULY unique, individual executive home, boasting 5,200 sq ft of the most fantastic accommodation built to the highest specification.

This magnificent property is set in the desirable area of Milton Keynes near acres of Ouzel Valley parkland with the benefit of being close to the shopping centre, theatre and a variety of restaurants.

The property boasts an inspiring design throughout, with such items as under floor heating on all floors, vaulted ceiling to the kitchen and a double aspect (whole top floor) master suite with sheltered all weather balcony to the front and back and abundance of glass up to the vaulted ceiling.

It has been thoughtfully planned with family living in mind, yet is a house that would also suit occupants with regular entertainment requirements.

The entrance hall has a feature oak staircase with vaulted hall and full height glass windows, which leads into the kitchen/breakfast room with byfolding doors into the garden. The dining room and lounge also have byfolding doors into the garden.

There is a large utility room, downstairs cloakroom and a very practical boot room leading from the double garage and side access.

The kitchen has a striking design of units with a central island and an array of appliances, including two ovens, five-burner hob and a coffee machine.

Upstairs there are five spacious bedrooms, including a guest suite with dressing area and en-suite.

This home also has a ground source heat pump, saving 50-70 per cent on your gas bill and an electric car charger in the garage.

There are luxury finishes like electric gates and garage doors, and the mainly south facing garden has been landscaped and has a generous patio area.

This property, on the market for £975,000, must be viewed to fully appreciate all the design features.

Fundraising & Marketing Officer

The Marston Vale Trust

Hours negotiable between 22-37 hours per week

Salary c.£22,000 (pro rata)

The Marston Vale Trust is the environmental charity committed to creating the Forest of Marston Vale. Our challenge is to use trees and woodlands to transform 61 square miles between Bedford and Milton Keynes, repairing a landscape scarred by decades of clay extraction, brick-making and landfill, by increasing woodland cover from 3% to 30% by 2031. We're working with local communities, government and businesses to create new woods and other wild places for everyone to enjoy.

The Trust is seeking an enthusiastic, driven and articulate individual who cares passionately about improving our environment and will work creatively to secure substantial project funding to help create the Forest of Marston Vale. The Fundraising & Marketing Officer will work within a successful delivery team and lead on all fundraising and business development activities of the Marston Vale Trust, including helping with marketing and PR activities.

The successful candidate will have some fundraising, business development or other relevant experience and be experienced in researching funding opportunities and securing funding from a wide range of sources including corporate clients. They will be a highly motivated and creative self-starter, with excellent oral and written communication skills, first-rate organisational and analytical skills and will possess a good appreciation of project implementation, as well as the ability to work within tight deadlines.

The successful candidate will join a small, experienced and highly motivated team that has secured and invested over £20m in environmental projects over the past 15 years, delivering significant benefits for people and wildlife.

The post is based at the Forest Centre & Millennium Country Park, Marston Moretaine, Bedford, Bedfordshire MK43 0PR. It is a permanent position, and working hours are negotiable (between 22-37 hours per week), with flexible working, job share and/or part home-based working possibilities.

For an application pack containing more information and an application form please contact Charlie Gardner at HR Initiatives via info@hrinitiatives.co.uk or 01438 742056. For an informal chat about the post contact James Russell, Forest Director on 01234 762607.

Closing date: 12th March 2012
Interviews: 23rd March 2012

Post will be subject to a criminal record bureau check, and any offers will be subject to acceptable CRB checks and employment references. We are an Equal opportunities Employer. Registered Charity No. 1069229.

Milton Keynes Council SCHOOLS ADMISSIONS APPEALS CAN YOU ASSIST? WOULD YOU LIKE TO BE INVOLVED IN SCHOOLS ADMISSIONS APPEALS?

Milton Keynes Council is looking for volunteers to sit on Schools Admissions Appeals Panels.

Appeal Panels are independent of the council, the Children and Young People's Service and schools. The Panels hear appeals from parents of children who have been refused a place at their preferred school, because the admissions authority states that the school is full.

Applications are welcome from all sectors of the community. Full training will be provided; a training session will take place on Monday, 2 April. Panel members are eligible to receive travel and subsistence allowances (to include the cost of child care) in certain circumstances.

Naturally, you would not be eligible to hear appeals for any school where you may be seen to have an interest.

ATHLETICS

MILTON Keynes Athletics Club put in a phenomenal performance on Saturday to snatch away the Chiltern cross-country league title from Bedford.

Trailing their rivals by almost 200 points going into the final meet at Wing, the club had a near perfect day to clinch the title by 966 points from their near rivals.

Both the senior men's and women's teams claimed overall victory in their categories, while there were second places for the U13 boys and U20 women.

The club also claimed two superb gold medals for the series thanks to Alfie Yabsley (M13) and John Skelton (M60), and there were silvers for Lara Bromilow (FS), Chad Lambert (M20) and Dominic Murphy (M13) and bronzes for Gemma Childs (F17) and Fran Malin (F45).

On the day, the senior men claimed their fourth victory out of the five races while the women were second.

KARTING

THE Vodafone DMAX Championship gets underway at Daytona Milton Keynes on Sunday.

It is the first of three rounds of the 'arrive and drive' championship to be held at the city track.

For more information and how to take part visit www.daytonamax.co.uk.

MK Dons assistant manager JOHN GORMAN writes exclusively for MK NEWS every week

THERE'S obviously been a lot of talk about England with Mr Capello leaving.

The obvious choice on everybody's lips is Harry Redknapp – the fans want him, the media want him and the only people who don't want him to go will be Tottenham supporters.

It will be a big decision but I'm sure whatever is meant to be will be.

I think Harry would definitely like to get a chance, and he certainly deserves one, nobody would begrudge him it.

When Glenn Hoddle was England manager I was his assistant, although it seems so long ago now it's like it happened to another person.

It's a hard job because the media pressure is big and consequently most managers end up losing their jobs because of something that has happened outside of football.

The tabloids have a lot to say and you can't criticise them as they are doing a job, but sometimes you do wish that they wouldn't stir things up so much.

People say there is nothing to do in international management, but believe me there is loads.

There was a lot of travelling the world, watching the opposition and watching players.

It's a good job which I enjoyed, and flying into somewhere and watching a top, top game is a definite perk.

When the tournaments come it is more like club football, but the rest of the time it was all about scouting and preparing.

I was lucky to have the opportunity and I appreciate the chance that I got, although because I'm Scottish I've always had some stick about it back home.

I was still in the job even when Glenn left as they didn't want me to leave, but I wanted to go as I think that you've got to be loyal to the people you come with.

We knew from the press coverage that he might lose his job, and the position meant a lot to Glenn. It was a tough time leading up to his departure.

Ian Wright will tell you how good Glenn was tactically and he never gets the credit for that.

He was a great England manager and he wasn't really given the opportunity to fulfil the job, if he'd had more time I'm sure he would have done.

CHARLTON ATHLETIC 2 DONS 1

CAUTION: Referee Keith Stroud books Dons' Alan Smith

Dons crack at Addicks

as the half ticked to a close and Johnnie Jackson's bending free-kick was only inches away from opening the scoring for the hosts.

Dons were enjoying success on both flanks and new boy James Tavernier's decisive run created an excellent chance for Dons.

Bowditch hooked the on-loan Newcastle man's delivery back into the box and Alan Smith put his head where it hurts with a low header which Hamer did well to block.

Tavernier then tested Hamer himself with a bending shot as Dons looked to end the half strongly, but things went horribly wrong in the seconds leading up to the break.

MacKenzie was dismissed for violent conduct after the flashpoint in the penalty area and referee Keith Stroud decided to point to the spot as well.

The centre-back was involved in a near-identical incident earlier in the season against Huddersfield and Jackson gleefully took advantage by smashing the penalty into the right corner just beyond Martin's grasp. It was a horror moment and seconds later Dons had another escape when Danny Green rifled in a long ranger which crashed off the crossbar.

Robinson's side would have wanted the sanctuary of the dressing room but the misery continued when Luke Chadwick slid into Jackson in the box, resulting in a second penalty just a minute after the first. The Charlton man went the other way this time but the result was the same and Dons had a near-impossible task heading into the second half.

Dons were beginning to assert themselves before the two penalties which essentially killed off any hopes of a positive result in a matter of moments.

Robinson made a defensive switch by swapping MacDonald for Mathias Doumbe, with his side now short of bodies at the back.

To their credit, Dons didn't cave in despite their perilous situation and they still looked to get forward whenever possible as Charlton were not piling on the pressure as some might of expected.

In fact, it was the visitors who came the closest to finding the target next thanks to Shaun Williams' free-kick which caught a nick and flew just wide.

The task at hand was too great though and when Charlton did go forward they naturally found gaps to be exploited.

Wright-Phillips turned in the area and pulled a shot past Martin's upright as the hosts slipped into cruise control against their depleted opponents.

Dons did continue to fight and Hamer was called into action to tip over Stephen Gleeson's rising drive before sub Dan Powell forced a low save at the near post.

On 86 minutes there was a slither of hope when Bowditch, who had been lively all night, found the top corner with a classy finish across Hamer.

A late corner then saw Martin sprint into the opposing area but Charlton were not to be punished for failing to show a ruthless edge.

The outcome had perhaps been inevitable since the catastrophic final moments of the first half, and Dons have now been without a League One win since January 2.

Charlton: Hamer, Jackson (Haynes 62), Morrison, Taylor, Green, Stephens, Wright-Phillips (Pritchard 91), Wiggins, Solly, Hollands, Kermorgant.
Unused subs: Sullivan, Cort, Clarke.

Dons: Martin, Tavernier, Lewington, MacKenzie, Gleeson, Potter, Bowditch, MacDonald (Doumbe 46), Smith (O'Shea 82), Williams, Chadwick (Powell 75).
Unused subs: McLoughlin, Ibehre

Final in touching distance

Lightning 3 Bracknell Bees 2
Basingstoke Bison 3 Lightning 2

NICK Poole has urged his players to do everything they can to get through to the EPL Cup Final.

Lightning welcome Sheffield Steeldogs to Planet Ice tomorrow night in the second leg of the semi-final and everything is still to play for.

Poole's side were beaten 1-0 in Yorkshire so know that the Steeldogs' advantage can be feasibly overturned as they bid for their first piece of silverware of the season.

The first leg score failed to tell the story of a battling Lightning who denied Sheffield until the closing minutes of the final period – and even then the goal came against the run of play.

Sheffield's net came under frequent attack from Lightning who were unlucky not to come away with any goals to show for their efforts.

Player coach Poole said he is optimistic that the team can get the job done in front of a home crowd to seal their final berth.

But his side go into the crucial contest in their biggest slump of the season and confidence may be low in the camp.

Lightning claimed a 3-2 league victory over Bracknell Bees on Saturday but Basingstoke Bison beat them by the same scoreline 24-hours later.

In total the city side have tasted defeat in seven of their last nine outings, a run which has seen them slip down the English Premier League standings into mid-table.

Poole has conceded that a league title may now be out of reach but they are very much in the running for the cup.

He said: "After a disappointing run of results we've made some definite improvements, and some of our most recent results really don't reflect that.

"We know it's a work in progress and that Sheffield are playing very well at the moment, so Thursday will be hard work – we won't hide from that.

"But every single one of us is up for that challenge, and we'll go into this game as we do every game, looking for the win."

The win against Bracknell came in overtime and was Lightning's first victory on home ice since January 7.

With the scores locked at 2-2 Lukas Zatopek found the back of the net with a rocket of a shot to seal the victory.

Lightning were then unfortunate to be edged out during a tough contest in Basingstoke, but the result was a marked improvement on the 5-1 home defeat to the same opposition at the end of January.

Poole has issued a rallying cry to players and supporters after the poor run of form and he knows that a cup final spot would be the perfect tonic.

"While a league title may now be a step too far, we are by no means waiving a white flag," he said.

"Our main ambition at the moment is to get a feeling of positivity and good feeling back in the camp and fight our way out of this slump."

Lightning will be hoping for a big home crowd to help roar them to victory in the semi-final.

Face-off at Planet Ice is 7.30pm and there is another home clash on Saturday – a league match-up with Swindon Wildcats at 7pm.

VINCE'S VIEW

LIONS CHIEF VINCE MACAULAY: ONLY IN MK NEWS

IT'S been a battered and bruised week as we travelled to Chester minus Daniel Northern, who was suspended, and Adrien Sturt who is still recovering from his operation at the hospital.

We further lost Carl Josey who didn't play in the second half so we faced an uphill battle.

The guys fought hard and but for three or four defensive breakdowns we could have won the game. Two areas of promise were the performances of Cameron Bernard and Chris Taiwah – both products of our MK College Lions Academy who put in positive displays.

Over the weekend we ran several referee and coach education courses, it was great to see so many people turn out for that, so thank you to all who did.

Watch out for Lions everywhere, we have a great programme in schools now, Hoops4Health, where we do a roadshow about healthy eating, smoking cessation, exercise through dance and exercise through basketball.

This programme is funded by the MK Community Foundation and we are grateful for the opportunity. If you are a school and you would like to join the programme, just email Debbie at debbie@mklions.com.

This weekend sees a very tough double header as we face the teams in third and second place in the championship. On Friday we face our local rivals, Leicester Riders, at 7.30pm at the arena.

It promises to be a real duel following our win over them in Leicester a month ago. We follow this up with a trip to Worcester to face the Wolves. Having split our two games one apiece, the winner of this gets the head to head which could be crucial come the end of the season.

For now, book a ticket for Friday's game, and if you feel like it, come along to Worcester on Saturday too.

Check out all the news at www.mklions.com. In the meantime, I leave you with this week's nugget: "Enjoy the little things, because one day you may look back and realise they were the big things" – Robert Brault.

Lions need to put trophy anguish behind them

Cheshire Jets 85 Lions 76

WOUNDED MK Lions need to forget about their BBL Trophy heartbreak as soon as possible so they can step up the tempo in the league.

That's the message from skipper Stefan Gill after last weekend's agonising semi-final exit to Plymouth Raiders.

Lions enjoyed a six point lead with less than a minute to go in the two-leg tie but they let it slip through their fingers as Plymouth mounted an unlikely escape.

Mike New's side know that they should be looking forward to their first major final in four years and on Sunday, with the heartbreak probably still fresh in the memory, they were downed by Cheshire Jets in their first league game back.

The result has left Lions sixth in the BBL standings but a number of rivals are now bunched around them.

A run of form is now required to cement the city side among the top eight who contest the end of season play-offs.

Gill hopes that the pain of Plymouth can be turned into a positive over the long term.

And the guard said that other teams could expect to feel the brunt of Lions' frustrations.

He said: "We need to bounce back and it's now a case of making sure we take out our frustrations on the other teams.

"We're on a mission to get something out of this season since we've worked far too hard to finish with nothing."

On Sunday, Jets man Bill Cole scored five points as his side grabbed the final nine points of the opening quarter to lead 19-15 at the first change in Chester.

The home side continued the trend of finishing a quarter strongly, rattling off seven late first half points to take a 42-30 lead into the half-time interval.

Jets gradually extended their lead in the third quarter but their progress was checked late on as Lions battled back.

They bucked the trend to finish the stronger with a 8-2 burst which clawed the deficit back to just nine points at 61-50.

However, Lions were unable to get any closer to their hosts who turned the screw and soared out of sight.

Adam Brown instigated a crucial burst for the Jets, scoring five of seven unanswered points which put the game beyond Lions' reach at 72-54 with just over six minutes remaining.

Brown netted a game high 31-points and ten rebounds, while Demarius Bolds was again star man for Lions with 21-points and ten rebounds.

Bolds is still the league's top scorer and he also leads the way in steals.

Coming up next for Lions is a home clash with rivals Leicester Riders on Friday, tip-off at 7.30pm.

This is followed by a tough away trip to high-flying Worcester Wolves on Saturday.

FORMULA ONE

RED Bull Racing are 'encouraged' after four days of testing of their new car.

Drivers Sebastian Vettel and Mark Webber have taken the recently unveiled RB8 for a spin at Jerez in Spain and the city-based team believe that things are on schedule.

Head of Race Engineering Ian Morgan said: "It's been quite encouraging. We are where we expected to be, based on the data we had from the factory.

"That's good for later in the season as if you've got good trust in the tools at your disposal at home it makes development work on the car a lot easier."

On day one, Webber was fourth fastest out of all of the teams with a lap time of 1.20.496 and on day two the Australian went even quicker, ending the day as the fastest of the 2012 cars, marginally adrift of the 2011 Mercedes of Michael Schumacher in 1.19.184.

World champion Vettel clocked 1.19.297 on day three and 1.19.606 on day four when an electrical issue cut short the morning session.

Vettel said: "It's been two months since we were in the car, so it does take a couple of laps to get back in the rhythm, but the car feels fine and as we expected.

"There's quite a loss of grip due to the regulation changes, but you get used to it quickly and then start to explore how the new car feels.

"So far we can be happy, we had a couple of issues, but it's normal when the car is new."

Webber added: "I think we're making good progress although it's still very early days in the concept of the car."

SWIMMING

CITY of Milton Keynes Swimming Club have had a great time of it at the Oxford and North Bucks county championships.

The club won all four championship titles on offer, claiming two county records and a British record in the process.

Ben Flaherty won the 1500m boys' freestyle with a new county record and he also broke the county record for the 800m during the swim.

Team-mate Matt Masters was just beaten into silver by 0.04 seconds and Christian Revell finished fourth with a massive new personal best, picking up a junior championship title.

Things started off well for CMK in the 800m freestyle when Lucy Chenery finished 24 seconds under her own British disability short course record.

In the final heat Emma Joyce regained the senior championship title she won in 2010 in a new best time and Charlotte Evans secured a junior championship title by finishing third.

SKIING

SNO!zone Milton Keynes skiier Sarah Glasgow claimed third spot in the British Alpine Racing Ski Club's championships in Italy.

The ten-year-old fought off fierce competition in the girls' category to break into the top three.

Valentine's Macca massacre

CHARLTON 2 DONS 1

GARY MacKenzie saw red after an off-the-ball incident for the second time this season and Dons paid the penalty against champions elect Charlton.

The Scottish centre back was given his marching orders on the stroke of half-time after appearing to lead with head during a clash with Yann Kermorgant and a resulting spot-kick was lashed home by Johnnie Jackson.

A second Addicks penalty followed seconds later and was also buried by Jackson to give Dons next to no chance against the league leaders.

The hosts eased off the gas in the second half and Dons found late hope thanks to a Dean Bowditch goal but it proved to be just a consolation as Karl Robinson's side slipped further away from the automatic promotion spots.

Perhaps more worrying though is that Dons are now looking over their shoulder to teams who are closing in on the play-off positions.

Both teams showed a willingness to keep the ball on the deck in the early going and the sides took it in turns to mount attacks into opposition territory.

The Dons back four held firm to stop Charlton's attempts at breaking forward long before a killer touch could be provided, while any sort of touch on Bowditch's low cross at the other end would have put the visitors in front.

There was some nice football at each end of the pitch with no cutting edge and there was a moment of ugliness on 24 minutes when MacKenzie was booked after an aerial collision with Charlton striker Kermorgant.

The home crowd wanted a red card and they were even angrier moments later when their side nearly took the lead in freak circumstances.

A crunching coming together between MacKenzie and Bradley Wright-Phillips resulted in the ball looping awkwardly towards David Martin's goal but the Dons keeper managed to claim right on the goal-line.

Martin ended up holding the ball at full stretch to demonstrate that it hadn't gone in but the home fans behind his goal were insistent that it had crossed the line. The game began to heat up

Racer Nash to take on the world's elite

JAMES Nash can't wait to make the massive step up to the World Touring Car Championships.

The Newport Pagnell driver – the reigning British Touring Cars independents' champion – will race on the global stage with Sussex-based Team AON.

It's a deal which will see Nash, 26, competing against the best touring car drivers in the world in a brand-new 'global' Ford Focus that features the very latest 1.6 litre turbocharged engine from Mountune Racing.

Nash believes that he can be competitive from the off and he has nothing to fear from the world's best.

He said: "Taking the step up into the World Touring Car Championship is a great challenge and very exciting.

"The whole Team Aon and Ford package is fantastic and with Ford's support and Team AON's detailed knowledge of the car I'm hugely looking forward to what I hope will be another rewarding season."

Nash had previously stated a desire to topple established veterans Jason Plato and Matt Neal in the British Touring Car championship.

And he admitted that leaving the UK was a tough choice to make.

"Of course, as a reigning British champion it has been a difficult decision to move away," he said.

"I had offers to stay but quite honestly the lure of world competition was too strong to resist.

"I can't wait to go wheel to wheel with people like three-time world champion Yvan Muller, Rob Huff, Alain Menu and Gabriele Tarquinii.

"I've grown up watching them race and I'm itching to get behind the wheel and make my own mark too.

"Helping the team to develop the Focus is also something I'm looking forward to.

"Last year with the Triple Eight team the budget was tight and the Vauxhall cars we used were pretty much fully developed.

"The Focus though is new and already in pre-season testing I've found a few things that enabled me and my new team-mate to lap close to qualifying record speed."

Nash – partnered by Tom Chilton at AON – has his first race in the Worlds at Monza in Italy, on March 10 and 11.
